

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Wine thy horn, my hunter boy,
And leave thy lute's inglorious sighs;
Hunting is the hero's joy,
Till war his nobler name supplies.
Hark the hound bells ringing sweet,
While hunters shout, and the woods repeal,
Hill-ho! Hill-ho!

Wind again thy merry horn,
Till echo, faint with answering morn,
Burn, bright torches, burn till morn,
And lead us where the wild fox lies.
Hark the cry, "Hill-ho! Hill-ho!"
While hill and valley our shouts resound,
Hill-ho! Hill-ho!

The Meet at Cohoke.

A member of the Deep Run Club returned Saturday night from a meet at the Cohoke Club, brimful of enthusiasm over a splendid day's sport and find on Saturday.

At 4:45 Saturday morning, said he, the "ringing echoes" of the horn dispelled the mists of sleep, and hunters, enjoying the hospitality of Cohoke Club, were called to a delightful breakfast served in old Virginia style. Appetites were keen, broiled Spanish mackerel, crisp, browned, delicious waffles and coffee were dispatched with great gusto, and a few minutes past 6, hunters were in the saddle and ready for the fray, led by that noble and genial type of the old school hunting man, Captain Richard A. Trice, who had come down from his home, Woodlawn, in Louisa county, with eight of his fine pack, to enjoy the hunt.

The route was from Cohoke toward Lester Manor, the hounds taking up the trail in Mr. J. T. Johnson's woods and following it hotly, several packs joining in at various points. The riding across country began and ended with a rush, the hunters following the deep-mouthed music of the dogs through underbrush, and across fences and streams in salt and sportsmanlike style and without a moment's delay to spoil the pleasure of the day.

The fox took a westerly direction, heading towards the plantation of Mr. J. B. Greene. At this point a fine counterpart of Captain Trice, in the person of the veteran King William county fox hunter, Mr. John Haw, came up and threw his pack into the chase. After a run of about thirty minutes' longer, a fine gray fox was overhauled, Captain Trice leading at the death.

The pack was then taken to Smithers', where they again found, trailing beautifully for thirty minutes, and then jumping the fox in White Blashes. The wily old animal, a gray, like his predecessor, proved as cunning a doubler as ever, led a trained pack, and it required two and a half hours for the hounds to run him down.

Mr. S. S. Robinson was first in this hunt, and was very successful, proved as cunning a doubler as ever, led a trained pack, and it required two and a half hours for the hounds to run him down.

The aggregation of hounds, thirty-three in number, made one of the finest packs in the Old Dominion, or outside of it, with the two M. F. H.'s, Captain Trice and Mr. Haw. It was a great treat for the younger hunting men to observe and admire the fine ability and rare sportsmanship of these two accomplished masters in a pastime that has engaged the attention of Virginia gentlemen since the days of the colony.

After the second chase was ended at 11:30 A. M., a few minutes' rest was taken. Then the entire party accepted the hospitable invitation of Mr. J. T. Patterson for a hunt dinner at the Cohoke club house.

A splendid menu was served, and hunting songs and stories lightened the pleasure of good comradeship around the board, which crowned a day of out-of-door sport that has not often been excelled in the annals of Eastern Virginia experience. The health of the host was drunk and Judge S. B. Witt, who witnessed a part of the chase from a vantage point in his automobile, was toastmaster at the dinner.

Among those present were Captain Richard A. Trice, Mr. John Haw, Judge S. B. Witt, Mr. R. H. Johnson, Mr. B. C. Garrett, Mr. Nathan Garrett, Mr. William Neal, Mr. Calvin Greene, Mr. H. C. Littlepage, Mr. S. S. Robinson, Mr. E. E. Robinson, Mr. Robert Garrett, Mr. J. T. Patterson, Mr. Wiley Johnson, Mr. Byrd Pollard, Captain "Sport" Lipscomb, Mr. J. M. Dansey and Mr. E. B. Sydnor, of Richmond. The company of gentlemen appreciated highly the services rendered them by Tom Dennis at the club and on the field.

Student Life in Munich.

Mrs. John C. Robertson was chairman of the day at the Women's Club Monday, when Miss Harriette Lee Tallafiero charmed her audience by a talk on "Student Life in Munich."

Miss Tallafiero's bright way of turning the minor as well as the major details of student life into an interesting account of how students fare, how they amuse themselves, how they enjoy their summer sketching parties, how they turn obstacles into encouragements, made the afternoon seem all too short for those who enjoyed every moment of her talk, and were pleased to meet her socially at the reception which succeeded. The pretty afternoon and the knowledge that Miss Tallafiero would be at the club attracted an unusual throng at the club and made the rooms most delightful in a social way.

Mrs. Glazebrook and Miss Roberts Edmond served lemonade. Miss Alice Leigh presided over the tea cups. Chairman's guests were Mrs. Charles Selden, Mrs. J. M. Dunn, Mrs. M. E. Frazier, Mrs. Parker Dashiell, Miss Juliet Lee, Miss Adele Williams, Miss Bessie Selden, Mrs. M. C. Patterson, Miss McRae, Miss Marie Cringan, Major James H. Dooley, Admiral Harrie Webster, Miss Louise Walker, of Morristown, N. J.

Committee to be Entertained.

The Virginia Society of Colonial Dames will give a reception Friday afternoon, April 7th, at 5:30 o'clock in the parlors of the Woman's Club, at which the visiting members of the Jamestown Committee, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be the guests of honor. The Virginia members of this committee will include Mrs. Hugh Nelson Page, of Norfolk; Mrs. Mrs. Lyons, of Charlottesville, and Mrs. Howard, of Alexandria. The other members who will represent the different States in the Union, are, most of them, members of the National D. A. R. board.

Mr. Powell in Lynchburg.

The Lynchburg News of Sunday contains the following complimentary account of Mr. Powell's recital of last week in that city, saying:

The piano recital of Mr. John H. Powell at Assembly Hall on last Friday evening, was a notable event in the musical experience of Lynchburg. The audience was an exceptional one, both in extent and culture, comprising nearly all the music lovers of the city, who had assembled to hear this young Virginian, in the programme comprised selections from Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin, Rubinstein, Tchaikowsky, Liszt, and two admirable compositions by Mr. Powell himself, one a Scherzo Diabolique, and the other a Danse Americaine. All the numbers were given with a brilliancy of technique, sharp and clear, and a sincerity of feeling which elicited genuine enthusiasm of applause. It argues a wonderful eclecticism of taste and ability when a player can pass from the impressive solemnity of Beethoven's Marche Funebre to the ethereal delicacy of Chopin's Impromptu, or from the light suggestions of Liszt's Humoresque, with artistic perception and interpretation of so many and such diverse beauties. And yet this is what our young Virginian accomplished. In a performance of such even merit it seems inexplicable to recall any especial excellence, but the delicacy displayed in the rendition of Chopin's when Mr. Powell's touch recalled Tchaikowsky's description of Chopin's own piano playing; the tenderness of the Tchaikowsky Romance, the delicious merriment of Liszt's Humoresque, and the crisp perfection of his Intermezzo on Gervais, linger ineffably in the memory.

Martin—Garland.

Miss Lang R. Garland, of Roanoke, and Mr. W. Ryland, a well known newspaper man, formerly of Lynchburg, were married Saturday in Salem at the Baptist parsonage by the Rev. Frank H. Martin. The groom has been engaged in journalistic work for the past nine years. He is the editor and publisher of Martin's Magazine.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mrs. S. A. Garland, of Appomattox, and sister of Mr. A. R. Garland, of the Atlanta Constitution.

Chapter Meeting.

The Old Dominion Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a called meeting to-morrow at noon at No. 811 East Grace Street, Miss Lucy Clair Atkinson, regent, and Miss Alice Reddy, delegate, will represent the Old Dominion Chapter at the Continental Congress to be held in Washington on April 17th.

Rhone—Hundley.

Cards have been received in Richmond announcing the marriage of Miss Virginia Hundley, daughter of the Rev. John W. Hundley, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cape Charles, Va., to Mr. Claude Rhone, on Wednesday, April 12th, at Cape Charles.

Anderson—Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Lynn have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Katherine Mason, to Mr. Vernon Elmore Anderson. The ceremony will be performed on Tuesday morning, April 11th, at 10 o'clock, in the home of the bride's parents, No. 413 West Grace Street. Miss Lynn is a niece of Major B. W. Lynn and a graduate of the Woman's College. Mr. Anderson is the son of Mr. R. N. Anderson, of Cumberland, and has made his home in Richmond for several years.

Payne—Goldsborough.

The marriage of Miss Grace Barclay Goldsborough, daughter of Mrs. Henry Hollday Goldsborough, of Washington, and Mr. Thomas Jones Payne, of Chatham, Va., will take place on Monday, April 24th. The wedding will be a quiet one at the home of the bride's mother, No. 26 East Preston Street, Washington.

Griffith—McNair.

On April 28th, a marriage of great interest to Richmond's social society will take place, when Miss Aline McNair, formerly of Norfolk, but now of Staten Island, N. Y., will be married to Mr. William Griffith, of New Jersey. Miss McNair has many friends in Richmond, whom she has frequently visited.

Lamberton—Clabaugh.

A wedding of general interest will take place in Washington Saturday, April 29th, when Miss Helen Clabaugh, eldest daughter of Charles J. Clabaugh and Mrs. Clabaugh, will be married to Mr. Benjamin Paulding Lamberton, Jr., formerly of Washington, but now of Schenectady, N. Y.

University Dramatic Club.

The University of Virginia Dramatic Club, known as the "Acadian," will give a performance at the Opera House in Charlottesville on April 28th. The piece to be presented is a comic opera, the "Khan of Kathan," and will be an all-time cast. This opera was written at Columbia University, and was played there by the student body with great success. This success Virginia hopes to duplicate. There will be about fifty in the cast.

Personal Mention.

Miss Blanche E. Hoecher, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hoecher, on Twenty-fifth Street, returns to New York to-day.

The third chaffing-dish luncheon under the auspices of the Commonwealth Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be given at noon to-day by Miss Ely Maury Werth, in the home of Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell, Tuscarora Villa, Henric county.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Albert Clifford Barney and her daughter, Miss Natalie Barney, of Washington, who are now in Assyria, will be surprised to hear of their conversion to the Assyrian religion. They are now at the very feet of Abba Effendi, called by his people, the gate of heaven. There is said to be a strong following of this religious sect in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wirt Venable, of Farmville, who have been visiting Miss Elizabeth S. Hunter, have gone to Norfolk. Later in the week they will go to Philadelphia for a short stay.

Mrs. George P. Stacy and daughter, Miss Louise Stacy, are at 215 East Franklin Street, after several weeks' stay in King and Queen county.

Mr. and Mrs. William Corcoran Eastlee, of Tarboro, will arrive in Washington on the middle of this week, and take up their abode at the famous old Corcoran house, which was the home of Mr. Eastlee's ancestors.

Mrs. Walker Fearn, of New York, has given up the apartment she has occupied at the Adelphi Hotel, and has gone to New York to pass several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Beth Barton French, before going abroad. Mrs. Fearn will go to Paris for a month, and later to India. Mrs. French is well known as a Springs, Va., where she has a beautiful summer home.

Miss Randall, of Richmond, is the guest of Mrs. William Chapman, in Portsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Solomon have gone to Newport News to live.

Mrs. C. T. Williams is visiting her parents.

THE RIVER PATH.

By JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

The river path celebrated in these lines is at Amesbury on the Merrimac. It was a favorite walk of Whittier and his sister. For delightful descriptions and photographs of scenes in Whittier's poems, see that admirable book, "Whittier Land," by Samuel T. Houghton, Houghton, Mifflin & Co. "The River Path" was suggested by an evening on the Merrimac. Whittier says, "An evening I spent in company with my dear sister, who is no longer with me, having crossed the river (as I fervently hope) to the glorified hills of God."

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series. The authorized and copyright edition of Whittier's works are published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston and New York.

NO bird song floated down the hill,
The tangle bank below was still;

No rustle from the birchen stem,
No ripple from the water's hem.

The dusk of twilight 'round us grew,
We felt the falling of the dew;

For, from us, ere the day was done,
The wooded hills shut out the sun.

But on the river's farther side
We saw the hill-tops glorified—

A tender glow, exceeding fair,
A dream of day without its glare.

With us the damp, the chill, the gloom;
With them the sunset's rosy bloom;

While dark, through the willowy vistas seen,
The river rolled in shade between.

From out the darkness where we trod,
We gazed upon those hills of God,

Whose light seemed not of moon or sun;
We spake not, but our thought was one.

We paused as if from that bright shore
Beckoned our dear ones gone before;

And still our beating hearts to hear
The voices lost to mortal ear!

Sudden our pathway turned from night;
The hills swung open to the light;

Through their green gates the sunshine showed,
A long, slant splendor downward flowed.

Down glade and glen and bank it rolled;
It bridged the shaded stream with gold;

And, borne on piers of mist, allied
The shadowy with the sunlit side!

"So," prayed we, "when our feet draw near
The river, dark with mortal fear,

"And the night cometh, chill with dew,
O, Father! let Thy light break through!"

"So let the hills of doubt divide,
So bridge with faith the sunless tide!

"So let the eyes that fall on earth
On Thy eternal hills look forth!

"And in Thy beckoning angels know
The dear ones whom we loved below."

FIRE IN SCHOOLHOUSE.

Plenty of Smoke Gives the Department Something to Do.

A small blaze caused lots of smoke and plenty of excitement at the Fairmount school yesterday about noon. Some kindling had been placed in the furnace and a fire started, as the morning was cool, and in a few moments a lot of waste stuff that had accumulated in the register caught fire and started the excitement. The children, who had been well trained by the teacher, marched out in good order, and no one was hurt. Engine No. 1, of the Richmond department, responded to the alarm, but the fire was easily extinguished, with little damage.

Several outbuildings were damaged by fire in the rear of Nos. 406, 408 and 410 Louisiana Street Sunday afternoon. The Denny Street engine responded, and the damage was held down to less than $200. About noon yesterday an alarm came from No. 303 East Grace Street, and a large crowd was attracted to the spot to see a burning chimney.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Negro Sent to Grand Jury for Crime Committed Year Ago.

Justice Angle yesterday sent Joseph Langley on to the grand jury on the charge of being the cause of the death of Mary Kinney. He is alleged to have hit her on the head with a brick, one year ago. Immediately after the alleged assault the negro fled, and had been in hiding ever since, until he was landed in Newport News and arrested by Officer Frayser, and brought here. The killing was the result of a quarrel between the two, in which the man struck the woman over the head with a brick, from the effects of which she died five days later. The coroner's jury found the man responsible for the woman's death.

FASHION HINTS.

Girl's Box-Plaited Dress.

No. 3100—This smart looking frock has quite a few features to commend it. The waist is built over a fitted foundation, which foundation may be finished with a shield at neck in front and back and from a gulph, with the neck corresponding portion of outside fabric cut away in square neck effect, or the garment may be finished with a high neck, both front and back, with Eton collar, and the sleeves may be made in either elbow or full length. The box plaited skirt is very easily put together and the style is one that is invariably becoming to a growing miss.

The design is suitable for challie, albatross, serge, chambray, linen, or gingham. The pattern No. 3100 is cut in sizes for 6, 8, 10 and 12 years, and requires 4½ yards of 36-inch wide material with 11-4 yards of lining.

This pattern can be gotten from The Cohen Co., for 10c.—Adv.

GUANO COMPANY IS INDICTED IN COURT

Must Answer Before Judge Witt on Charge of Creating a Nuisance.

The April term of the Hustings Court commenced yesterday and a long list of true bills were found by the grand jury. Among those of interest was one against the Richmond Guano Company and Richard H. Johnson, charging them with creating a nuisance. The specific charge is that named above, and the class of the offense is that of a misdemeanor, subjecting the parties upon conviction, to a fine.

This case grows out of complaints of citizens on account of unseemly and disagreeable odors resulting from the guano works and spreading over the city. This odor was especially offensive on certain days last week. The other true bills returned by the grand jury are as follows:

Frank Allen and William Allen, malicious wounding.

John Butler, alias John Melton, house stealing.

Thomas Bell, malicious wounding.

Eliza Gray, malicious wounding.

John Garnett, house-breaking.

Percy Johnson, burglary.

William Lundy, house-breaking.

William Mosby, house-breaking.

Jesse Scott, alias Jesse Jones, alias George White, house-breaking.

William Thomas, murder.

Robert Wilson, malicious wounding.
